

Open letter to young Vietnamese born after 1975.

Dear young friends,

Having passed the age of 80 and approaching the golden age of my life, I sincerely write these lines to all of you, all for the love of the homeland of Vietnam. I hope that you will realize more of the truth who really destroyed our homeland in Vietnam and America.

You are very lucky to be born after 1975, after the Thirty Years War 1945-1975, the war of pain, blood and tears in the Vietnamese homeland ended. From the South to the North, many people have lost all their loved ones, their families are torn up and running back and forth to avoid bombs and bullets, but in the end the beneficiary is none other than the Chinese Communists.

I would like to tell you about my family who is a victim of the Communists and also a witness who is currently living abroad to help you better understand the plight of those who have sacrificed for the country of Vietnam, and have contributed to the preservation of Vietnam. protect the good people under the dictatorship of the Vietnamese Communists through the direction of China.

My grandfather is a friend of Mr. Tran Quy Cap, after Mr. Tran Quy Cap was arrested at Song Can Bridge, Ha Dua Phu Vinh Nha Trang, my grandfather escaped to cultivate Đa Đen mountain, making four large fields: Đồng Găng, Đồng Tròn, Đồng Giai and Đồng Nga. My grandparents and parents were killed by the Viet Minh under the charge of being landowners, after the outbreak of the Nha Trang Front in 1945, although before that, my grandparent raised the resistance against the French for 6 years. When I was five years old, I was raised by Sister Vu and pushed across the river in a basket, carrying it back to Uncle Le's family to raise me.

The house was burned by the Viet Minh against the orders of Tieu Tho Khang Chien, my uncle Lê Thức brought me back to Hue in 1950, attended Jeanne D'Arc school in 1960 I worked for the Hue Consulate.

In 1963 I worked for Bank of America, the Chase Manhattan Bank N.A Military Banking Facilities Agent Of The US Treasury, in Da Nang airport until 1972. My husband had to march in Khe Sanh and Lao Bao.

Following the daily war news, the two sides signed the Paris Agreement of 1973, to end the war in 1973. With 12 years of learning experience working for the US Agency, we did the House Construction Project. Khanh Hoa Sugar Factory, Small Craft Industry, in Suoi Hiep Commune, Dien Khanh District, Khanh Hoa Province, when Peace returned to the homeland.

The sugar factory is building 40 pillars and 5 irons. A whirlwind rushed through the factory, dragging dozens of pillars and 5 pieces of iron to pieces, fortunately no one was hurt. I stood dumbfounded, watching the factory become a pile of rubble with so many destroyed buildings. Driving on the way home, my heart was broken, my eyes were blooming, my son had directions home. I was in a coma when I woke up at 4am. Remembering everything happened like the sky fell in an instant, a flash of light suddenly flashed, I had to solve it right away, I couldn't give up.

At six o'clock in the morning, I called the contractor to bring the fishing rod truck in to pull the iron out, mobilize all the staff to focus on cleaning the deck, removing the pole and the corrugated iron roof, and three days later erected a field roof. On the fourth day, the machinery worked again, the fire was already burning red into the sky through the chimney, everyone was happy, thinking that the factory had to stop working for a long time because it was waiting for construction to resume. From there we started producing sugar at the end of 1973.
